

City of Petaluma

Proclamation

GOOGLE FIBER DAY – MARCH 26, 2010

WHEREAS, Google is a corporation widely respected by our civic leaders and the Petaluma community for their innovative information technology; and

WHEREAS, Google's small company culture coincides with the character of our civic leaders and community as exemplified in following principles:

- Focus on people – their lives, their work, their dreams.
- Every millisecond counts.
- Engage beginners and attract experts.
- Dare to innovate.
- Plan for today and tomorrow's business.
- Be worthy of people's trust

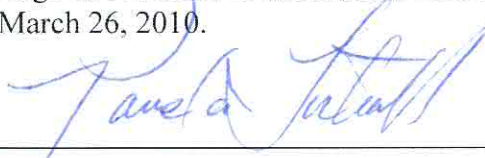

WHEREAS, Petaluma is home to innovative technology firms and content creators poised to develop next generation products and services to leverage ultra-high speed fiber networks; and

WHEREAS, the City of Petaluma's Technology & Telecommunications Advisory Committee aims to expand and improve Internet access for residents and businesses while promoting programs that attract new information technology companies to our community; and

WHEREAS, Petaluma is known for landmark innovations in urban planning, ensuring an attractive and tech-friendly environment for its residents and businesses to prosper; and

WHEREAS, the City of Petaluma is united in its desire to be selected for the Google "Fiber for Communities" experiment (www.google.com/appserve/fiberrfi/), delivering Internet speeds of over 1 gigabit per second.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT I, Pamela Torliatt, Mayor of Petaluma, along with the members of the Petaluma City Council, do hereby proclaim March 26, 2010, as GOOGLE FIBER DAY, and urge all residents to nominate Petaluma for Google's "Fiber for Communities" opportunity by March 26, 2010.

Pamela Torliatt, Mayor

Claire Cooper, City Clerk
